NOTE TO THE MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Throughout the play, which have been made to approximate close and tight music to the style of the silent movie accompaniment. For the purposes of the musical, "The Ransom of Red Chief" should be done and played to piano, bass, and drums. The music must use heavy bass and tremolo in the melody. The percussion must use the snare drum, but also include the use of the tom to imitate the various sounds.

Another important note: the production will be stronger if the director utilizes the skills of the play and approach in the sequence and other appropriate numbers which have not been specifically noted in the script. The director should avoid all physical action. In the original production, various unusual processes, costumes, such as silk, wicker, straw, and wool blocks were employed.

KEY IDEA You can make a list. You can check it twice. You can go over every last detail of a plan in your mind. But even when you think you've thought of everything, the unexpected can change the outcome in surprising, terrible, or sometimes hysterically funny ways. In the story you are about to read, the main characters have a plan for making some quick money, but things don't work out the way they had hoped.

LIST IT With a partner, plan a surprise party for a friend by making a list of what you need to do. Then, next to each item, write down something unexpected that could possibly happen to spoil that part of the plan.
